TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 13.—With two new attorneys suddenly added to defense staff, Bruno Richard Hauptmann, today appeared ready to put up a tremendous "last ditch" fight for his life.

Hauptmann is sentenced to die in the electric chair at 8 p. m. Friday, for the murder of Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr. The court of pardons late Saturday denied his appeal for clemency.

But with his defense lawyers, five of them now, working as they have never worked before in the case, and with Governor Harold G. Hoffman's mind reported to be still "open" it appeared likely the doomed man will not walk "the last mile" this week.

The new lawyers, both of them from Washington, D. C., are Neil Burkinkshaw and Nugent Dodds.

C. Lloyd Fisher, chief of defense counsel, announced that he had retained them. He described them as excellent lawyers and well versed on constitutional law.

More Rumors

While Fisher was giving his news out in Trenton, rumors of sensational new developments in the case began to pour in from all directions.

It was reported a Chicago attorney, Bernard M. Finnigan, who flew to New York last night, has a statement from one of his clients in prison in which the prisoner asserted he could take the attorneys to the place where $23,000 in ransom bills was hidden. He quoted the prisoner as saying that the owners of the alleged Lindbergh blood money vainly tried to sell it at 40 cents on the dollar.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Last evening a thin coating of ice formed on the highways and streets, thus making travel by automobile quite a hazardous undertaking.

When a fire alarm was sounded late last night one of the fire vehicles turned almost completely around on the Diamond when turning from Jefferson street onto Washington street. The rear wheels swung around and struck the curb.

Local folks were surprised to get up this morning and find spring-like weather prevailing. It had started to get cold last evening and nasty weather was indicated.

No new detours are noted in the Detour Bulletin of the Pennsylvania Highway System, for the period ending January 23. There are but two detours now existing in Western Pennsylvania, one between Slippery Rock and Grove City, and one between Clarksburg and Saltsburg.

Randall Sayre, Jr., Victim
Of Sled-Riding Accident
At Franklin

A sled-riding accident at Franklin, Saturday, resulted in the death of little Randall Sayre, six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Randall Sayre, Sr., former New Castle residents.

The boy's sled crashed into an automobile at 1:30 p. m. He was critically injured and lived only until 5 o'clock in the afternoon.

The Sayre family is well known in New Castle. Mr. Sayre is a cousin of J. F. Rentz of Winter avenue and Mrs. W. E. Ferver of Walmo and Mrs. Sayre is the former Oia Orr, sister of Wayne Orr, Ellwood road. They resided here a number of years ago, and have many friends. Mr. Sayre is employed by the state highway department.

Funeral services are to be conducted Tuesday morning at the residence, Sugar Creek, Franklin, and interment will be made in a cemetery at Sharon.

Little Randall leaves, in addition to his parents, a sister, Zoe.

Governor Hoffman Is Undecided About Hauptmann Reprieve

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—"Do you intend to reprieve Bruno Richard Hauptmann?"

This question was put directly up to Governor Harold Hoffman of New Jersey by an International News Service reporter at the Lambs club early today.

"I don't know," the governor answered.

The executive added that he might have something more to say on the question of a reprieve "in a day or two."

He was then asked if it were true that he had ordered the arrest of Dr. John F. Condon, Lindbergh ransom intermediary, who is now en route to Central America aboard the liner Santa Rita.

"No, I did not order Dr. Condon's arrest," the governor replied. "However, in view of Condon's actions and statements since the Hauptmann trial, it is my belief he should have been taken into custody for questioning."

ASMARA, Jan. 13.—The "little rainy season," which will hinder military activity in Ethiopia for about a month, began here in earnest today, and by ten o'clock had created an atmosphere of definite unpleasantness.

It was a drizzle which settled on the dusty roads, laying the dust but threatening to make many of them muddy within a short while. The better roads which the Italians have built will remain unaffected.

The drizzle fell throughout the night, the first in a month. Then came a pea-soup fog pierced by streaks of lightning, these being definite African signs of the advent of the "little rains."

It has been raining in the Makale region for three days, an unprecedented freak of nature for this time of the year which may be an indication this year's "little rains" will be more severe than usual.

Shooting Occurs In Chicago—
Shots Fired At Judge
During Excitement

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Jan. 13.—Attorney Christopher G. Kinney was shot and killed today in the courtroom of Judge Prystalski on the ninth floor of the County building in full view of a crowded courtroom.

His assailant, John W. Keogh, fired several shots at Judge Prystalski.

When the killer had emptied his revolver at the judge who had taken cover behind the bench, he was quickly overpowered and turned over to the police.

Kinney, an attorney for the Chicago Title and Trust Co., had appeared before Judge Prystalski opposing a motion made by Keogh.

Keogh made a long, wild plea to the court. When he had finished Judge Prystalski heard Kinney. Then he denied Keogh's motion.

Suddenly according to courtroom witnesses, Keogh fired at the judge, apparently shooting from his pocket. Kinney grappled with him and struck him.

DEFENSE AGAINST WOMEN AS JURORS

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Jan. 13.—Calm and dapper as ever, Justice of the Peace James J. Westwood with an unpraised hand today pleaded not guilty to the slaying of his wife, Martha, last July 10, as he went on trial for his life.

Heavier by 29 pounds than when he was jailed, Westwood displayed not the slightest bit of emotion as Chief Clerk Major John Shenkel read the indictment in the jammed courtroom. Selection of a jury began at once.

Of the 20 examined, two jurors were seated before the noon recess today. They were John Emmel, unemployed forging machine operator and Edward A. Kinton, manufacturing chemist.

Children In Court

In court were Westwood's three faithful children, Bertha 20, Martha 12 and James, Jr., 7. G-men were investigating a threatening letter sent to Bertha who has many times asserted her belief in her father's innocence.

Small Force Of Italian Troops In Makale Now

(International News Service)
LONDON, Jan. 13.—Only a skeleton force of Italian troops remain in Makale, and powerful jaws of the Abyssinian army are ready to close in on that northern stronghold, according to dispatches today from Ethiopia.

The News-Chronicle said the Italian main body has withdrawn 30 miles toward the Eritrean frontier, while the Ethiopians all but surround Makale.

The forces of Ras Seyum and Ras Kassa are now preparing a smashing assault on the main Italian group, the report said.

From these dispatches, originating in Dessye, it is evident that Addis Ababa rumors that Makale was recaptured are premature.

Farther to the west of Makale, reported the Daily Telegraph, the Ethiopians continue to drive out the enemy, and capture a front line food depot with 10,000 sacks of rice flour.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—An administration compromise bonus bill proposing to give America's World War veterans two billion dollars in government "baby bonds," immediately redeemable in exchange for their adjusted service certificates, was introduced in the senate today.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—In an effort to avoid a congressional battle over direct inflation of the currency, administration leaders today sought senate approval of a compromise bonus bill, which would use "government baby bonds," instead of money, to cash the $2,000,000,000 adjusted service certificates held by America's World War veterans.

Administration leaders placed their substitute before the senate finance committee, which met to consider the outright cash bill overwhelmingly approved by the house. Their chief argument in favor of the compromise was that it would meet with President Roosevelt's approval, while the house bill would meet a veto.

Will Urge On Congress Need

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—Two more groups of farm leaders assembled here today, with a third group to meet later in the week, to emphasize on congress the urge for farm legislation to replace the AAA, outlawed by the supreme court.

Officers and representatives of the National Cooperative Council, and directors of the national grange, many of whom attended the Friday-Saturday conference of farm leaders called by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, opened their annual sessions.

While these meetings were scheduled long before the supreme court's decision, the organizations have been studying possible legislation to take the place of AAA for months, it was learned.

So, too, have AAA lawyers, at least ever since final arguments in the AAA case were made before the supreme court. This was admitted by AAA Administrator Chester C. Davis.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—The supreme court today ruled that $200,000,000 in AAA processing taxes, now held in escrow in lower federal courts must be returned to processors.

At the same time the high court failed to rule on constitutionality of refund provisions under the amended AAA, affecting the question of refunding $1,000,000,000 in processing taxes already collected by the treasury.

In a second decision the high court dismissed a suit attacking constitutionality of the bankhead cotton act on jurisdictional grounds.

The high court failed to decide the question of constitutionality of the Tennessee valley (TVA) act.

The decision of the court created unusual situations, which can only be clarified by further litigation.

High government officials already have conceded that the Bankhead Cotton act—first Roosevelt law for compulsory control of cotton acreage—is unconstitutional in view of the AAA decision last week.

Big Truck Skids Answering False Alarm On Sunday

Firemen In Danger When B.
Truck Jumps Curb While
Rounding Diamond

While answering a false alarm from Box 412, at the corner of Beckford, Adams and Butler avenues, Sunday night at 10:25, the B. truck, combination pumper and ladder truck, skidded as it was rounding the south corner of the Diamond and jumped the curb, tearing up some of the hedge at that point.

The truck was not being operated at a fast rate of speed at the time, which was the only thing that prevented a more serious accident.

Alarmed at the increase in false alarms of late, Fire Chief James E. Thomas intends having the full penalty of the law invoked on those who are caught in this act.

Firemen were called to Mill and Reiber streets by a false alarm from Box 53, Sunday morning at 2:45, but Officers Hannah and Cooper were near the scene when the box was pulled by Harry Hetrick, of 134 West Long avenue, and he was arrested. Hetrick will have a hearing today, and it is intended to press the charges against him, it is stated.

"Little Rains" Will Not Bother Italian Forces

(International News Service)
ASMARA, Jan. 13.—Italian military commanders today expressed confidence that the "little rains," now deluging both fronts, will not greatly hamper the army's land and air activities.

Anticipation of the storms was one of the chief reasons so much stress was laid on building good roads as the front was pushed southward. As long ago as three months one of the highest officers told International News Service: "The 'little rainy season' won't bother us. By then we shall be fully prepared and shall be able to fight right through it."

Baracks have been built to replace tents, and large stores of food have been placed along the front. Even if the Italians' lines of communication were cut off during the rains, the troops would be able to hold their present positions, it was stated.

ADMITS SLAYING STEP-MOTHER

Beaver County Crime Revealed

Woman Murder Victim Found In Shallow Grave Near Here

SELF-DEFENSE IS PLEA OF SLAYER

(International News Service)
BEAVER, Pa., Jan. 13.—Dark, handsome Steve Marenkovich, 26, a former prize fighter, today pleaded self-defense in the gruesome slaying of his young stepmother, Katie Markenkovich, 37, whose body was found in a shallow grave near their Hopewell township home, according to police.

The youthful adonia was arrested in a Pittsburgh refuge shortly after the slaying of his young stepmother, Katie Markenkovich, 37, whose body was found in a shallow grave near their Hopewell township home, according to police.

Scraping aside some of the soil, Markenkovich said he first saw a bit of cloth which looked like that of his wife's dress. Pushing more earth away, he uncovered his wife's arm, he said.

Unearths Body
Horror-stricken, the husband unearthed the rest of the body and rushed to Allegheny police to report the gruesome discovery.

Examined by physicians and Dr. H. C. McCarter, Beaver county coroner, Mrs. Markenkovich was pronounced dead of strangulation. Gags placed in the mouth and nose had choked the woman, they said.

It was discovered by questioning the ex-boxer that he had left home New Year's day. Found in a rooming house, the youth told police he struck his step-mother in the head when she lunged at him with a razor, and then fearing her dead, buried her in a quickly dug grave behind their house. He said they constantly quarreled.

He was expected to be formally charged with murder today.

LAST-DITCH FIGHT IS BEING PLANNED FOR HAUPTMANN

tentions are in regard to a reprieve from Hauptmann, sources close to him said he was determined to grant at least one 30-day stay for the condemned slayer of the Lindbergh baby.

The same sources disclosed that the governor will, if he feels justified by the evidence he collects, continue to grant Hauptmann one reprieve after another until his remaining two years in office have expired.

If he does that, action is bound to be taken against him by the legislature, which convenes in its 160th session tomorrow, according to Democratic leaders.

Hear "Impeachment" Sentiment
The ugly word "impeachment" was being mentioned freely in the halls of the state house and in the lobbies of hotels as the legislators and their followers began to arrive. Under the state constitution, the governor has no right to extend any reprieves at all now. The constitution specifies that no reprieves can be granted after 90 days have expired from the day of conviction. Hauptmann was convicted and sentenced Feb. 13, 1935.

However, other governors in the past have ignored this rule. It was pointed out by legal experts that the only way to stop Hoffman from reprieving Hauptmann would be to impeach him.

Will Not Oppose Stay
Attorney General David T. Wilentz and Hunterdon County Prosecutor Anthony M. Hauck, who prosecuted Hauptmann and defended his conviction through three appeals, said they would not oppose a stay of execution for a "reasonable" length of time. But Wilentz made it plain he is prepared to fight any stay after 90 days have expired.

In New York Hoffman denied that he has asked for the arrest of Dr. John F. "Jasie" Condon, the ransom intermediary in the Lindbergh case. But he said he still desires to question him about alleged discrepancies in his statements on the crime.

Wife To Visit Bruno
Hauptmann was to receive his first visit today from his wife Anna, since the court of pardons turned down his plea for clemency late Saturday. Mrs. Hauptmann, though still protesting Hauptmann's innocence and declaring he will escape the chair, appeared to be in very low spirits.

His defense lawyers gave the same impression. Fisher and Frederick

A Pope left here last night for New York, where they remained until today.

They admitted they were just about at the end of their rope, but said they now were working on some new "angles" which might still save Hauptmann's life.

May Go To Federal Court
Fisher would not disclose what the next defense step will be. But it was intimated that the defense will go into federal court and ask for a writ of habeas corpus on the ground that Hauptmann is improperly being detained in prison and that his constitutional rights were contravened. If this is denied, the way will be open for a new appeal to the U. S. supreme court.

Other possible defense plans include a request to the U. S. supreme court to reconsider its refusal to review Hauptmann's trial, and a petition to Justice Thomas W. Trenchard asking for a new trial on the basis of new evidence.

Not even the defense lawyers place much faith in any of these courses, though their retention of the two Washington attorneys plainly indicates that they feel their best immediate chance lies in the federal courts. Meantime, they will have to get a reprieve from Hoffman.

Their main ultimate hope is in staying off Hauptmann's death until they can get some real and conclusive evidence that Hauptmann was not the kidnaper or murderer of the child, in which event they could demand a new trial.

Offered Ransom Bills.
Chicago, Jan. 13.—While his attorney, Bernard J. Finnigan, conferred with Gov. Harold G. Hoffman in Trenton, N. J., a prisoner in the Bridewell here revealed the substance of that conference today.

Steve Spitz, 52, who has been in the prison since last February for passing a bad check, declared that he had paid $1800 to two men for $20,000 of the Lindbergh ransom money, and then lost contact with the men before seeing any of the bills.

"The transactions took place 'in the east' more than a year ago, he said.

Spitz said the two men with whom he dealt took no part in the kidnapping, but were acting as brokers for the "hot" ransom bills.

"They may have sold some of the bills to Hauptmann," Spitz said.

SEEK TO AVOID DIRECT BATTLE OVER INFLATION

to make the "government baby bonds" immediately redeemable by the veterans, the compromise was said to have been endorsed by bonus leaders.

Secret maneuvering over currency inflation lay behind the campaign for the compromise. The house bill, authorizing cash payment of the bonus, merely postponed an inevitable battle over expanding the currency. It was apparent that if the house bill were enacted into law over a veto, the administration would dump the task of raising the necessary revenue right back into the lap of congress. This would precipitate a major battle over currency inflation, with the Patmanites proposing to raise the necessary funds by issuance of new "greenbacks."

Seek To Escape Battle
It was to escape just such a contest that the administration leaders prepared the "baby bond" compromise. They conceded the bonds would constitute a mild form of indirect inflation but one that would not violently change price levels. Details of the compromise bill were guarded closely by its sponsors. It was learned though it proposed to give the veterans a series of interest-bearing bonds (probably at 3 per cent) in exchange for his certificates. These bonds expiring in ten or twenty years, while not negotiable, would be convertible immediately. The sponsors discussed making them convertible at Federal Reserve Banks, at veteran administration offices and at post offices. They finally agreed to let the committee decide this point.

Date Bonds From June 15
It was decided to date the bonds from next June 15. This would allow conversion of the bonus certificates until after that date. The delay, however, was justified on the ground the veterans administration would not be ready, in any event, to cash the bonus certificates before that date.

Administration leaders upheld this compromise on the ground it would not provoke direct currency inflation. They contended an appreciable amount of the bonds might not be cashed, with the veteran holding his issue in order to collect the interest. They argued veterans, who needed cash, could get it but that the veterans themselves would actually be financing a large part of the bonus, by retaining their bonds.

Hints the president would approve the bill were expected to help secure its adoption in the senate. So too were the hidden threats of currency inflation involved by the house act.

Oh, for the single old days when all of the world's wickedness and woe could be blamed on short skirts.

McNair-Council Continue Fight

Mayor McNair Says "There Is No Council," And Sticks To It

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Jan. 13.—Presenting Pittsburgh's city council, now you see it, now you don't.

For there is no city council, according to Mayor William M. McNair, although it will meet anyway today to adopt rules and assign committee chairmanships.

Cornelius D. Scully, center of the controversy which has become entangled with legal technicalities, indicated he was considering a mandamus action against the mayor to collect his salary as a councilman, which the mayor says he will hold up.

Cannot Collect Salary
But Scully, according to the mayor, can not collect his salary as a councilman because he isn't on the council.

Said the mayor: "If he goes before the court, the court will demand that he prove his right to the office."

Although he threatened to call out the police, the mayor said he will not prevent the council from meeting today (he'll veto everything they pass, anyway).

Last week when council refused to "organize" in accordance with his call for a meeting, the mayor dissolved council and said he will elect eight of its members January 22, along with P. J. McArdle, the only member who complied with the mayor's request.

States, besides outstripping Japan at building, would also fortify her Pacific islands.

"We are making further efforts to save the ship," the foreign office spokesman said. "The Japanese delegation is still ready to discuss further the Naval problem in its entire scope, from both the quantitative and qualitative angles."

The influence of finance Minister Korekiyo Takahashi, according to one authoritative report, swayed the government from its demand for an immediate show-down on the issue of parity for Japan.

Because of domestic opinion, however, foreign minister Koki Hirota told the cabinet that Japan's fundamental demand of equality will not be abandoned, but Japan will not bolt the London conference and thus create the impression of a "belleose attitude."

Chief delegate Admiral Osami Nagano, therefore, was ordered to work for an amicable agreement, without a formal vote tomorrow on the parity issue, and without making any concessions.

The government is under orders to answer by January 20, a suit instituted by Talmadge attacking constitutionality of the law.

Disposes Of Amended AAA
In one sweeping statement in the rice millers case for refund of $200,000, Justice Roberts, who decided the original AAA case on last Monday, disposed of the amended AAA law.

The change made by the Amendment of Aug. 24, 1935, do not cure the infirmities of the original act which were the basis of the decision in United States vs. Butler, (Jan. 6, 1936), said the high court's opinion. "The exaction still lacks the quality of a true tax. It remains a means for effectuating the regulation of agricultural production, a matter not within the power of congress."

Governor's lawyers had accepted the far-reaching decision in the Hoosier mills case last week as disposing of any question of constitutionality of the broad AAA provisions.

The chief welfare of congress in enacting the amended AAA at the last session was to cure the possible defects of the original act on the question of delegation of power.

In an effort to forestall possible losses to the treasury in the event the AAA scheme was declared unconstitutional, congress included two provisions.

One prohibited federal courts from enjoining processing taxes. In effect, the law said that processors must pay first, and sue for refund later.

About 1,500 Injunctions
About 1,500 injunctions against collection of $200,000,000 of processing taxes were granted by lower courts despite this provision of law. Eight Louisiana rice millers who failed to obtain an injunction in lower courts, brought the question to the high court, which granted a temporary injunction.

The decision today means that the lower courts will refund the money "without letting it get into the treasury."

The rice millers also attacked an unconstitutional provision of the amended AAA which required processors to show that they had not passed the processing tax on to consumers or take it out of farmers before they could obtain refund, if the law were held invalid.

No Decision On This Issue
This question the high court did not decide. Presumably it will be raised in suits for refund of $1,000,000,000 in taxes collected under the unconstitutional AAA, if and when filed.

Processors have asserted that if the refund restriction is valid, there is virtually no hope of getting refunds for processing taxes.

In the Bankhead law case the high court held that it would be an abuse to the discretion of the lower federal courts to accept the case.

So despite the fact that the case was argued, the court held that it had improvidently granted the writ of certiorari and dismissed the case. Chief Justice Hughes delivered the Bankhead opinion.

START TRIAL OF JAS. WESTWOOD

began. Long verbal arguments between prosecution and defense attorneys indicated a protracted battle before the jury is finally selected.

Against Women Jurors
The defense appeared determined to prevent the seating of any women jurors and the prosecution just as determined to place women in the jury box. It was believed the defense felt women jurors might be unduly prejudiced by testimony that Westwood was attending a gay night club with two women friends the morning his wife was slain.

It was also believed the defense anticipated the commonwealth will attempt to show Westwood was cruel to his wife, both mentally and physically.

In opposing women jurors, the defense displayed the attitude that Westwood was charged with murdering his wife and not with unproved affairs with other women. Men, the defense seemed to believe, would better understand the issue.

AUDITING ACCOUNTS OF CITY TREASURER

FAITH THINGS TO BE CONSIDERED.

When making arrangements for a funeral quite often the family are confronted with the following facts that either on account of illness in the home or the home not being suitable for a funeral service they are compelled to choose a funeral chapel which is up to date and will fill their requirements. We have it and with plenty of room and home like surroundings which cannot be beat. Private rooms for family even more so than in ones own home. Private loading and unloading under cover in bad weather and all of this without one extra cent of expense to the family. We can very easily seat two hundred people and if called upon can seat six hundred within hearing distance of the speaker.

AGAIN.
When you want information in regard to funeral arrangements we do not ask you to read a book published by a casket manufacturer, who wants to advertise their line of caskets, but we do cordially invite you to call at our funeral home, go through our showroom where we have on display from twelve to fourteen different lines of caskets manufactured by the largest casket manufacturers of the country.

Casket manufacturers cannot give you advice on how to arrange for a funeral, that can only be done by one with years of experience in the profession. We have this experience, being the oldest Funeral Director in Lawrence County in length of service.

HOUK-McCLYMONDS MARRIAGE IS TOLD

A lovely party of Saturday evening of interest to many New Castleites, was that given by Mr. and Mrs. Fred L. Sturdevant in their Garfield avenue home, when they entertained members of the Y. and N. C. club, as a medium of announcing the marriage of their daughter, Miss Eva Hous, to Edwin McClymonds, son of Thomas McClymonds of Mulberry street, this city.

Bridge held away during the early hours, four tables of players competing for honors, with top score prizes falling to Earl Reeves and Mrs. Alfred Williams. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Carlson captured the hostess awards, and they, with Margaret Davies and Emerson Davies, shared as special guests of the occasion.

News of the marriage event was cleverly revealed to the assemblage through a series of "jingles" read aloud by each of the guests. These were found on tiny scrolls tucked in the hip pockets of novelty miniature snowman place favors, made out of popcorn balls, wearing black top hats and other accessories in black, that were most original. The center of the table was adorned with a floral piece, flanked by tall yellow tapers on either side. The date of the wedding was given as July 5, 1935, at Wheeling, W. Va., by Rev. S. B. Copeland, Rev. Copeland, who is pastor of the Wheeling United Presbyterian church, was former pastor of the local Third U. P. church. They were unattended.

In serving a tempting menu, Mrs. Sturdevant was assisted by Roberta Speer. An informal social period ensued.

Mr. and Mrs. McClymonds will reside for the present at the home of the latter on Garfield avenue. Both are graduates of the New Castle high school, she receiving her diploma in the year of '31 and he with the class of '28. Mr. McClymonds is affiliated with the American Tobacco company, being in charge of this district.

Out of town participants were Mr. and Mrs. William Bryan and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Allhouse and daughter, Donna Jean, of Youngstown, Ohio.

G. K. W. Club.
Mrs. W. G. Campbell has asked the G. K. W. club members to be her guests Wednesday evening.

LAWRENCE CHAPTER 35TH ANNIVERSARY

Lawrence Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, celebrated its 35th anniversary with a special program in the Lincoln avenue residence of Mrs. C. S. Royce, Saturday afternoon.

After the customary reading of the ritual and prayer by Mrs. Irvine Heph, Mrs. E. J. Blanning led in the salute to the flag. A short business session was in charge of the regent, Mrs. H. R. McCulloch, who turned the program over to Mrs. Wyatt R. Campbell, program chairman, with Miss Ruth Woodworth announcing.

Miss Katherine Johnson offered a group of appreciated readings which included the following selections, "Her Part in the Play," "Bess Does Some Telephoning," and a monologue, "Imitating Sister."

Miss Jennie L. Morgan presented a history of Lawrence chapter from its chartered date, June 14, 1900, displaying the original charter which added additional interest. Mrs. James T. Ray gave a report of the D. A. R. conference held in the fall at Williamsport, which she attended as a delegate from the local chapter. A number of old-time photographs of members and special occasions years ago, were brought forth by Mrs. Royce, creating much amusement and recalling many pleasant memories.

At tea time, the guests were invited to the dining room, where Mrs. McCulloch and Mrs. C. L. Goodman poured. The table was a lovely picture with a centerpiece of yellow roses and white baby mums, surrounded by large platters of rare China, filled with tempting delicacies.

Mrs. James T. Ray was chairman of hostesses including several members who served. Among the guests was Mrs. Thomas Ashcom, and Mrs. W. W. Campbell, of New Wilmington.

Lawrence chapter voted a donation of money and will pack a box to send to Croton school, a D. A. R. school in North Carolina, within the near future. Members who desire to contribute may still do so by leaving their donations this week at the home of Mrs. Wyatt R. Campbell, on East North street.

For the next meeting of the chapter, February 1, scheduled for the home of Mrs. C. L. Goodman, in the Guarard apartments, North Mill St. J. E. Martsoff, of New Brighton will be the guest speaker.

Mr. Martsoff, who was heard in New Castle at the Federation meeting in the First U. P. church, some time ago, will give a talk on Economy, the town near Zelenopolis, which marks the early settlement of the Economites. He will illustrate his lecture with interesting slides.

Mrs. C. S. Royce will give the history of Moravia, another notable spot in this community.

JURY REFORM

NEW YORK'S legislature has before it once more a proposal to abolish the unanimity requirement in jury verdicts. Under a constitutional amendment called for in a resolution offered during the first week of the session, verdicts of 10 to 2 or 11 to 1 would be as valid as unanimous verdicts in all cases except those involving first-degree murder.

In the early days of the jury system, during the Dark Ages, the principle of unanimity had much to recommend it. For one thing, the jury had become a bulwark of individual freedom against tyrannical kings, royal governors, and judges. The jurors might be subjected to persecution for a decision undesirable to the constituted authorities, and it would be well for them to stand together. Also, in small communities almost everybody would have a pretty good idea of the character of the accused, and the verdict might well be unanimous if he were guilty in fact. Juries would be impaneled infrequently, and presumably would be composed of the most intelligent citizens. Finally, punishments for even minor offenses were extremely severe—164 separate crimes were punishable by death under English law when the Declaration of Independence was signed. Hence it did not seem unreasonable for the prosecution to have to convince 12 men and the defense only one, or for one or two jurors to be able to determine the verdict, or at least to force a compromise on it.

In modern practice, however, the unanimity requirement, except in the greatest criminal cases, is deplored by perhaps the majority of those who hold that American judicial procedure needs overhauling. The attempt to win over one or two jurors often results in compromise verdicts, and frequent failures to reach an agreement result in heavy expense to the state by way of new trials. A number of states have already validated non-unanimous jury verdicts—and others attempt to get around the weaknesses ascribed to the unanimity requirement by reducing the number of jurors in minor cases from twelve to seven, or even to five.

GROPING IN THE DARK

Again there are evidences of a growing demand for an accurate and inclusive census of the nation's unemployed. Current estimates of the number of jobless citizens vary from 9,000,000 to 12,000,000. It is indeed time that the government knew the exact situation so that the emergency program could be closely adjusted to actual needs.

Certainly the country would be in an improved position with respect to relief expenditures if the precise scope of unemployment were scientifically ascertained.

SEEKING A SOLUTION

Are the many campaigns against reckless and dangerous driving reducing the toll of automobile accidents? The answer is both yes and no. The total number of fatalities last year was about 36,400, which is 300 more than were killed in 1934, but the death rate per 100,000 is the same which was 28.5. There was also an increase by 4.3 per cent in the number of miles a motorist could drive without an accident, and gasoline consumption increased 6 per cent while the number of automobile deaths was increasing only 1 per cent.

Thus it appears that although the total number of deaths went up, the increase was in direct proportion to an increased population, while it was actually possible to drive farther without an accident than it was in 1934. The number of automobiles was greatly increased during the year while, due to better times, more people were driving. These are matters which make the death rate not quite so black as it is painted.

It is black enough of course. The killing of 36,400 persons—enough to populate a small city—in a single year is a matter of great and tragic importance. And yet we believe that the realization of its importance is dawning more strongly than ever before on the American public. All sorts of agencies, acting in all sorts of ways, are working to reduce the number of automobile accidents.

WHAT THEY READ LAST YEAR

Reports from cities all over the country throw an interesting light upon the reading of the people last year.

A slight decrease in the number of applications at public libraries is taken to indicate an increase in the number of persons now at work. The knitting fad is another factor. Aside from these considerations, it appears that there has been a change in popular taste.

It is especially noticeable in the increase in the reading of non-fiction, while the reading of fiction has decreased in proportion. The novels now most in demand are those of a sociological character. This too implies a more serious attitude.

What were the subjects most highly regarded? Books on the useful arts, biography and travel are chiefly in demand. The number of biographies has been greatly swollen of late. The recent development of travel may account for the greater curiosity about foreign lands. Rumors of war have brought forth many volumes on China, Japan and Ethiopia. While the New Deal is a less frequent matter for investigation than it was, government and labor problems, child study and "inspirational" books still hold the field.

If no sweeping conclusions may be drawn from these figures, it is fair to assume that the standard of general intelligence is growing rather than diminishing. Nevertheless, the book reading public remains comparatively small in proportion to the population. Newspapers and magazines yet have the lead.

Why are smart men so rare? Well, if lions multiplied as rabbits do, they would devour the earth.

Human nature is no alibi for war. It is human to fight, but it is equally human, to be friendly if nobody acts hateful.

Japan's contribution to disarmament at the London naval conference consists of not demanding a navy as large as all the others combined.

A Georgia justice is on sound ground, it seems, when he rules that lagging is not a sufficient cause for divorce. In fact, it's just one of the hazards of a great adventure.

Killing, Wholesale, Retail.
$5,000 For Six Children.
A Pleasant Time Was Had.
By ARTHUR BRISBANE

FLOODS IN FRANCE, destroy life and property, terrific storms blowing in from the west kill many in England, an earthquake swallows villages, killing two or three hundred in Southwestern Colombia. Italians and Ethiopians kill each other on a small scale in Africa, England and France send their great battle ships to surround Italy, with the implied threat "make a false move and we shall show you how killing really should be done." Killing is the fashion with civilization, nature's efforts are feeble compared with man's.

AMERICA AND ENGLAND TELL JAPAN she may not have equality in sea power. If England and America choose they can build fighting ships beyond the power of Japan to compete with her limited financial resources. They might even unite their fleets for certain purposes, that is the step now discussed.

IF JAPAN WILL NOT MAKE a naval agreement satisfactory to England and America, Russia and Germany may be invited to join with England, America, France and Italy in a six-nation arrangement. Many Americans would like to see this country stand by itself, build a fleet of swift cruisers, plus air and submarine fleets 100 per cent bigger than any other on earth and let the world "we intend to stay at home, and if wise, you will do the same."

THIS COLUMN TOLD of six fatherless children, three boys, three girls, from 19 months to 13 years of age whose mother supported them by taking in washing until she was accidentally burned to death. That brief notice has turned out well for the children, bringing them $5,000 in the following letter:

"Dear Mr. Brisbane:
"I have read your description of the six children left motherless and fatherless and the tragic account of the mother's death."

"I should like to feel that I had been able to do more than merely sympathize with these children. Therefore I enclose to your order a check for $5,000 which I request you to utilize for their benefit in any way that may seem to you best."

"I leave the matter entirely to your good judgment and thank you for this opportunity, sincerely yours,
"M. L. Annenberg."

"P. S.—As you know, I have eight children of my own."

THE WRITER HAS SENT Mr. Annenberg's check to Mr. E. C. Remfh, head of the First National bank in Miami, who knows what Florida children need, with a re-

FOR A LOVER OF ANIMALS

THIS IS FOR a lady who wrote a note to me and didn't sign her name. Didn't write her name, but did sign "A Lover of Animals"—and how am I going to answer that kind of a letter? But why should I try to answer an anonymous letter? Well, usually I wouldn't try, wouldn't care, but this time I do—because she accuses me of being unkind to a dog and something or other, perhaps my vanity, drives me to self-defense.

What she did was pick on me accusingly because in something I wrote I referred to the wind blowing outside and the fire snapping in the fireplace and that cat snoozing on a footstool and "puppy" on the back porch, not saying a word.

She asks: "Do you really and truly let your pup sleep on the porch, as these nights are no picnic? You bragged about being warm and comfortable and 'puppy not saying a word.' I think he was too busy shivering."

Lady, you made a mistake. . . It didn't occur to you that that back porch might be a ROOM, tight and warm and puppy might be sleeping on a blanket, as he was, and not shivering a bit.

When a puppy's cold, he trembles and whines and lets you know, and that puppy always lets us know. . . He was out there because he'd been inside he'd have started a rum-pus with the cat. . . And he isn't mistreated. . . When we first got him he cried at night like any other lonely baby, and we used to put him to bed with a hot water bottle.

It was a nuisance, but if you have a pup you must take care of him. You don't beat him, starve him, neglect him in sickness or in health.

And it seems to me an animal lover ought to give a little credit to other members of the human race for acting halfway kind and decent.

You can ask our pup if he thinks he's abused. . . I asked him and he wagged his tail and chewed my shoe laces.

Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight 4:57. Sun rises tomorrow 7:21.

There was a terrible row in Wampum yesterday when a wife discovered his lodge meeting of the night before was a blonde.

It's a mighty fine thing to have a Jackson to point back with pride to in this country. He sure was a great man and those who refer to him to attract attention to themselves should try to imitate him just a little bit.

LIFE'S LITTLE AGONIES
A fond mother went to the furniture store and bought a perambulator for her new baby. Of necessity, she secured it on the installment plan. When she called to make the final payment, the patient merchant asked how her baby was getting on? To which she responded: "Oh, he is getting on just fine—he was graduated from high school last week."

The real question isn't how long a liquor bar should be, but rather how long the patrons should stand up to the bar.

Women criticize the veracity of the same scales that never lie about a ton of hay.

WARNING TO POLITICIANS
He flung his hat into the ring, and 'twas the end of that—For when he tried to get it back He couldn't find his hat.

We have read about several newly elected office holders in various parts of the country who declare they will not allow politics to rule their offices. Wonder how they stand on politicians?

In the old days when a customer went into a liquor store he always wanted a sample of the stuff. In some cases more than one sample was wanted. That old custom is not practiced in the modern liquor stores.

Another good intelligence test is to bump another car and see if you can tell whose fault it was.

President Roosevelt finds himself in the same fix as the cook who tried to please a dyspeptic patron.

Automobiles can now be bought on better terms than ever before. Some plans make it possible to pay for a car in full until it is about worn out. Sort of paying as you go.

SONG TO THE NOT-BELOVED

The ultimate sunset on the last lonely hill
Has faded, leaving dead world like a cinder when the flame's sucked out;

And I am not in love with you. It does not interest me that still you have a way of turning. I do not any longer care about

The ripples in your hair—or that your breast is a smooth gentle thing.

And your two feet are light and little . . . And I'll not be there

To see you in a new blue gown, or watch you bring
The tea into the room, or wonder at the new way you have done your hair;

I do not love you any more. I don't care anything about
You. And the world is like a cinder with all the flame burnt out.

YES, WE HAVE NO POTATOES

What I want
Said a customer
In a cafe on a snappy
Appetite-making fall
Day in 1934:

Is an order of pork chops
And country fried potatoes
And the girl who was Waiting tables said
I'm sorry, sir,

But we served our weekly
Potato quota yesterday
Using the three that
Mr. Wallace let us have
For this week

So we're clean out
And both the pork chops that We'd had locked in a
Safety deposit box
Were eaten yesterday

By a big spender from
Washington who was here
Checking up on this WPA work and who Could afford to Pay ninety-four cents
A piece for them and
Tip me, too.

For awhile, she said,
We had a pretty good
Potato bootlegger, a farmer
But fourteen government
G-Men rounded him up
Last week and a judge
Gave him thirty-seven years
In jail

And the boss of this place
Was fined seven hundred
And sixty-seven dollars
For buying spuds
That didn't have stamps
With Henry Wallace's face
All over 'em

And they darned near scared
Me to death too
Threatening to lock me up
For serving spuds that Weren't official

We've got, said the girl,
Some pretty good canned Corn beef shipped in from Argentina which don't go bad
With corn bread made from South African corn

Of we can give you
An order of wheat cakes
Made from hard Russian Wheat which smeared with
Hungarian corn syrup
Seems to suit

Some of our trade okay
Then we've got some fried Polish rutabaga which
Some folks say has a sort
Of potato taste

And I can give you an order of Canadian lamb chops
And French mushroom sauce
But no potatoes
Nor pork chops.

I guess, said the customer,
That if I want to eat
What I want to eat
When I want to eat
I'll have to move to Argentina, Africa, Poland or
Some place where they still
Grow meat and vegetables
And pigs and potatoes
Where I can get 'em
Without having to pay
Ocean carrying charges

And it's my idea, he said
That this is getting to be
One heluva country
And the girl said
Yes-sir.

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—Readers write their opinions today. Their letters were among the many on the return of the writer from a vacation. See whether you agree with the views that follow.

"Should Women Work—the subject of one of your columns—interests me very much," writes Miss Rachel Roman of McKeesport, Pa. "I wish to add a few thoughts to those so ably expressed by your woman contributor."

"It is queer that we always like to find a scapegoat on which to hang our troubles. Hitler found the Jews; some of us in the United States are doing our best to use the Negro for the present; and some of the dear men would like to fasten upon poor women the blame for the loss of their jobs."

"I should like to suggest to Mr. Carl Swadener, of Belleville, O., and all other men who feel as he does, that they spend some time reading thoughtfully and seriously certain parts, at least, of Edward Bellamy's 'Looking Backward' and 'Equality.' And I suggest, also, that they read carefully a book to which you have many times referred—Henry George's 'Progress and Poverty.'"

BELIEVE IT OR NOT.

This story—and it is vouched for by many reputable citizens of Long Beach, California, is supposed to be the best story to come out of the California earthquake of two years ago.

Two maiden ladies of tender hearts had purchased a turkey for a Sunday dinner of March 12. They began his preparation on the afternoon of March 10. Applying the axe was not to their liking. In the garage they gave him chloroform, and while he was unconscious they picked him clean of his feathers.

They started for the house for a knife with which to decapitate him.
Then came the now memorable shake at 5:55 P. M. When the dust settled, the ladies were startled to meet in their yard a completely naked and extremely indignant turkey.

Story goes that they knit a sweater and trousers for him. They never did kill him.

What is most important? Well, the law protects pocketbooks from worthless scoundrels, but what protects minds from "what-ifs" ideas?

Answer: Just as it is not necessary to introduce a caller to one's office staff, it is not required that you introduce your domestic staff to a guest. Well trained domestics do not expect such interruption of their routine.

If your domestics are of that class, they will prefer to eat at their own table and entertain themselves apart from your family and friends.

Of course, if your guest is staying overnight, you can make such indirect presentation as "fary, please show Mrs. Jones to her room." Mrs.
Jones will then know that the maid's name is Mary.

According to modern social usage a butler or a valet is called by his last name and all other domestics by their first names, except the housekeeper and possibly the cook of a large establishment who may properly be addressed as "Miss," or
"Mrs."

Will Develop Naval Bases In Pacific Ocean

Navy Department Works Out Details For Strengthening Of Defenses

ABANDON HOPE OF NAVAL AGREEMENT

By KINGSBURY SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—Detailed plans for the strengthening of America's defenses in the Pacific have been worked out by the navy department.

This was learned here today as both naval and state department officials privately abandoned hope of any new naval agreement being reached at the forthcoming London naval conference in view of Japan's adamant demand for the right to possess a navy fully as powerful as either the American or British fleets.

These plans call for development of a naval base in the Island of Guam and in the Aleutian Islands as well as the use of Midway, Wake and other small Pacific isles as naval airplane bases in case of an emergency.

Immediate development of Guam as a naval base is likely to be urged by the naval high command as soon as the existing naval limitation treaties expire at the end of this year.

The naval high command considers the existing naval base situation in the Pacific inadequate to meet the requirements of the fleet in event of a naval conflict in mid-Pacific waters.

It considers development of outlying bases in that area, especially at Guam and around the Hawaiian Islands, essential to adequate national defense.

Japanese Active
Further more the navy is considerably concerned over Japan's activities in the mandated islands, which lie between Hawaii and the Philippines and virtually surround Guam. Reports have reached here that Japan, for some unexplained reason, has been shipping large quantities of percussion caps and gunpowder to those islands, which the Nippon empire is forbidden to fortify under both the terms of the mandate and the Washington naval treaty.

The right to develop any new bases in the Pacific was sacrificed by this country along with $200,000,000 worth of warships in the Washington treaty.

Now that Japan has denounced that treaty and refuses to enter any new naval limitation agreement unless granted absolute parity, the navy wants to recover some of those sacrifices.

The thing to buy for a profit when modern planes begin to bomb great cities is distant farm land.

Evangelist Walter Paul Shepherd tonight at Wampum will deliver a spiritual message based on a happening which has, over a period of years, provoked public opinion of varying degrees. It will deal with the Lindbergh case—the plane flight of "Lindy" to Paris, the kidnapping of his boy, the sensational court trial and other phases of it.

Police Officers Are Puzzled By "Party" Killing

At Height Of Birthday Party Host Is Fatally Stabbed

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 13.—Puzzled detectives today continued an investigation of the strange "rubber knife" slaying of Joseph Marszalek that brought a bloody climax to a gay birthday party for his 23-year-old daughter at his home here.

Throughout the evening, guests told police, the merriment was heightened as the celebrants "stabbed" each other with toy knives. At one point, Marszalek's wife, Josephine, 43, approached him and laughingly drove a knife to the hilt in his breast.

Weapon Is Found.
Play turned to tragedy when Marszalek plunged lifeless to the floor, a steel blade in his heart.

Detectives said their suspicions were aroused when the fatal weapon was found, washed clean of blood and allegedly hidden in a drawer. While none of the rubber knives was found until after 12 hours' search. Despite long questioning, guests declared there had been no quarrel between the couple and corroborated each other's account of the incident.

Prostrate over her husband's death, Mrs. Marszalek was held without bail pending an inquest.

Mayne was mayor have turned over all records of the Examination of prospective police to the new civil service board, according to information given Mayor Charles E. McGrath. The new board has not yet taken any action on the latter motion so far as is known.

Makes Report On Status Of Canal

Gen. Markham, Of Army Engineers Presents Review To Congress

AWAIT RESULT OF LATEST SURVEY

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
Special Washington Correspondent
New Castle News

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 13.—Local interests have done little toward meeting the requirements of the federal plan for improving the Beaver and Mahoning rivers to Struthers, General Markham, chief of the army engineers, advised congress today in his annual review of rivers and harbors projects.

At the same time, General Markham reported that no funds are available for the project. He pointed out congress had made the Beaver and Mahoning canal a part of a through waterway to Lake Erie and said no further action was contemplated pending completion of a survey for the entire project from the Ohio river to the lake.

Representative Eckert, of Beaver, said it was his understanding a report of the survey would be received here shortly from the district engineer.

In his report, General Markham listed the local cooperation which must be pledged before the navigation project may be undertaken. He said the only step in this direction taken to date was the signing of agreements by local authorities to operate Milton reservoir under supervision of the chief of the engineers. He listed the necessary local cooperation as follows:

"The project is subject to the condition that local interests shall furnish, free of cost to the United States, all necessary rights-of-way and flowage rights except the lands and flowage necessary for the reservoir; shall furnish suitable areas for the disposal of dredged material during initial construction and future maintenance as and when needed; shall guarantee the United States against all claims for damages incident to the improvement, including claims for water rights; and shall construct, maintain, and operate all highway bridges and road changes needed for the improvement, free of cost to the United States; and provided further that before improvement is undertaken local authorities shall agree to operate the Milton reservoir under the supervision of the chief of engineers for the primary purpose of increasing the low-water flow in the interest of navigation; and local interests shall furnish assurances satisfactory to the secretary of war that they will provide at their own expense suitable and adequate terminals and dredge the harbor areas adjacent thereto in accordance with plans approved by the chief of engineers. The signing of agreements by local authorities to operate the Milton reservoir under supervision of the chief of engineers, and their acceptance by the chief of engineers has been the only work of a co-operative nature undertaken."

Advices from army engineers leaves the impression that the project would not be commenced for a long time, even though the Rivers and Harbors Board did approve the entire canal plan from the Ohio river to the lake. Army engineers have told members of congress that probably all waterways funds authorized by congress in the session started this month will be absorbed by projects commenced under the emergency work-relief program and now awaiting completion. This has been interpreted as meaning no new projects would be commenced unless congress appropriated money specifically for those undertakings.

Where President Roosevelt Will Be Renamed

PHILADELPHIA'S MUNICIPAL AUDITORIUM

In this building in Philadelphia, the municipal auditorium, the Democratic national committee will convene, June 23, to nominate President Roosevelt again for the presidency. By bidding $200,000, offering the auditorium and concessions free, Philadelphia won out in the fight for the convention.

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—Byways: A friend who acquired a bouncing poodle the other day from the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals tells me that he grew interested when a limousine driver up during his visit and discharged a "pay" patient ceremoniously—a sick chow that would receive elaborate hospitalization and a bill at the end of the stay stiff enough to suggest a human's illness.

Was it right that animals should receive such tender care when men women and children often lacked for it? Thus a question formed in my friend's mind which has beset many New Yorkers for years. Every time, indeed, that I have seen the black ambulance of the A. S. P. C. A. careening to the aid of a stricken horse or canary I have wondered how much milk for babies the cost of the call might have defrayed. But my friend's researches into the doing of the A. S. P. C. A. convinced him that the cause is as worthy as its sponsors believe; and I pass them onto you a colorful slant on a phase of metropolitan charity seldom touched by the chatterers.

For one singular reason the A. S. P. C. A. has justified its social usefulness, man's fondness for dumb animals and sentimentality about them aside.

In a surprisingly large number of cases investigators for the Society, told about instances of cruelty to animals, have uncovered cruelty to children. People who mistreat pets have a habit of abusing children, too. And in case the culprits have been reported to the proper authorities and the situation corrected.

At the moment, the Society is running a heavy deficit, due to a natural tendency in recent years to contribute every possible dollar to human welfare agencies. Directors are worried over the upkeep on the deluxe $50,000 sanctuary for animal derelicts at Jamaica, Long Island; and over plans for a new and sumptuous shelter in Staten Island, to be built if funds permit this year.

Eighty percent of the Society's animal patients are in the charity wards. Thus when some daffy grand-dame with a sniffling pompadour demands the best of everything for her darling, she is charged accordingly. Two million animals have wandered under the watchful eye of the Society in the last twelve months.

Joseph V. McKee, former acting Mayor of New York and now a high-pressure business executive, is an enthusiastic supporter of the organization and one of its guiding lights. William H. Vanderbilt is another, while Bishop Manning devotes every minute he can spare from his ecclesiastical duties to the Board of Managers.

Laurette Taylor, the actress, now on tour, planned a large party for friends upon her arrival in Miami the other day. She laid elaborate plans for the gala event before stepping aboard an airliner south.

To her vast discomfort, however, her trunks, forwarded by train, failed to arrive in time for the fete. She had, almost literally, nothing to wear. She had no time to cancel the invitations. So the party in one of the big hotels, was staged as planned. Except that Laurette the hostess, failed to show up.

quest that the money be expended for the benefit of the six orphans. The writer, not being in Miami, cannot personally attend to spending the money for the children and Mr. Romfh would do it much better. He grew up in Florida.

Mr. Annenberg's own eight children will never need material assistance, having a capable father. It is certain that his gift to these children will give him greater satisfaction than any other money that he ever spent, except for his own family.

JUDGE WALTER H. BECKHAM, of the Miami Juvenile Court, says he will do everything possible to keep the six children together. Whoever had seen the two older children, 11 and 13, sitting on the ground beside their mother's new grave, refusing to leave her, would not like to see the 19-months-old boy and his three-year-old sister separated from the others, or the other four from each other.

A NEWS ITEM concerning civilization in 1936. At Dover, Del., three Negroes were lashed at the whipping post in the presence of several hundred persons, including some ladies. If the presence of ladies surprises you, remember that George Brandes describes a young nobleman in the time of Louis the Sixteenth taking his fiancée to while away an hour pleasantly, watching from a convenient window the details of torturing miserable criminals to death.

ALLEGED ILLEGAL

DEER SLAYER FREED

BUTLER, Pa., Jan. 13.—Judge John H. Wilson exonerated William Duckworth, of Mt. Oliver, Pittsburgh, who had been found guilty of killing a deer illegally and fined $100 in a lower court.

Judge Wilson pointed out that witnesses against Duckworth, who said they heard a shot and saw the deer fall, were unable to identify the man who killed it. Duckworth appealed from the lower court's decision. Judge Wilson made his ruling after the commonwealth completed its case.

Good Increase

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 13.—Emerging from the holiday lull, industry in the Pittsburgh district increased considerably after January 1, 1936, the bureau of business research, University of Pittsburgh, reported today.

Steel set the pace for recovery. It was reported, with operations during the Christmas season reduced only moderately whereas in previous years the trend was toward drastic suspension of activities during the same period.

With business in the district advancing from 76 per cent of normal in November to nearly 79 per cent in December, the bureau reported, the level in the district advanced about 13 points in the last quarter of 1935 which gave evidence of an unmistakable upward trend for the year.

Abandon Plan Of One Answer To Roosevelt

Republicans Drop Request For Radio Hookup Such As President Received

WERE UNABLE TO SELECT SPEAKER

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—The Republicans apparently have abandoned their plan of having a single speaker "reply" to the drastic message which President Roosevelt delivered before the extraordinary opening session of congress.

A week ago, the Republican high command were denouncing the message as a "political harangue" instead of the traditional report to congress on the state of the Union, and were vowing to reply to it either with a single speech, or a series of speeches.

National Chairman Henry P. Fletcher even demanded of the broadcasting companies the same facilities for the Republican reply that were afforded President Roosevelt on Friday night. That would mean the greatest possible hook-up of domestic stations, and short wave transmission to foreign countries.

Plan Is Dropped
Now the plan apparently has been dropped. No Republican speaker or speakers have been designated to make the reply. Instead, as usual, Republicans will go on the air from time to time and from the floors of congress criticize administration acts and policies.

The difficulty appears to have been in getting a speaker to do the job. Friends of ex-president Herbert Hoover are said to have suggested his availability, but that suggestion didn't have much appeal to the party leaders. Republican presidential possibilities like Senator Borah, Gov. Alf. M. Langdon, of Kansas, and Col. Frank Knox were automatically ruled out because of their candidacies. That left a knotty problem in obtaining a speaker of outstanding national prominence to speak for the party.

No One Designated
At Republican national committee headquarters today it was said no one had been designated, and none probably would be. At headquarters of the Republican congressional campaign committee, it was said the committee would pursue its usual policy of putting on senators and representatives from time to time to speak on certain issues.

Privately, Republican leaders agreed no single Republican could be chosen who could speak for the entire party.

Morgan's Mien Belies Beliefs

Is More Inaccessible Than Royalty At His Hotel Suite In Capital

NEVER SHOWS TEMPERAMENT

Central Press Washington Bureau 1000 S street

By CHARLES P. STEWART Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—Washington probably is better acquainted with J. P. Morgan than any other city.

The old magnate has made two appearances here, as a witness before senatorial investigating committees. As such, it is impossible for him to keep ordinary folk from "contacting" him at fairly short range.

I am not so sure that he objects to it, either. It is his bodyguard that keeps the commonality at a distance. Maybe he would be glad to receive an occasional visitor, but it is difficult to run the gauntlet of his henchmen. At his hotel, even in Washington (he and his staff occupy about 40 rooms when he comes here), he is more inaccessible than royalty. I have no doubt he is equally so in New York, London or elsewhere. But the public (as much of it as can squeeze in) can't be kept out of a congressional committee room. That is where the great man has to mix with his fellow human beings at close quarters—extremely close quarters; the size of the crowds he draws is restricted only by the amount of space available to pack them into.

"ANGELIC" "J. P." has been represented as something of an ogre—fierce to reporters and a camera-smasher. In Washington, both times, he has been perfectly angelic.

With news photographers his patience has been wonderful. Reporters have had nothing to complain of. He hasn't told them much, but he has been the personification of gentility.

He is a jolly-looking old 250-pounder, nearing 70.

When he was in the capital a year or two ago, before the senate's banking and currency committee, I was so astonished at his amiability, in contrast with stories I had heard, of the violence of his temper, that I ventured to ask him what the explanation was.

He chuckled and jerked a thumb in the direction of John W. Davis, chief counsel for Morgan & Co. "He told me," he said, "that this was one of the times it would pay me to be on my good behavior."

FICTIONAL—AND REAL

I believe, however, that accounts of the junior "J. P.'s" ferocity always were fictional.

When in Washington recently, as a senatorial neutrality committee witness, he was as placatory as when the banking and currency committee questioned him. There seems to be nothing domineering in his make-up. In fact, a certain sort of near-timidness appears to characterize him.

"Is he always as civilized as this?" I asked one of his junior partners.

"Always," answered the junior. "The truth is," he continued, "the old man ('J. P., Sr.') kept him so knocked over the nose until he was well on into middle life that he suffers from an inferiority complex. 'J. P., Sr.' was ugly. 'J. P., Jr.' is timorous."

Naturally I don't tell which junior partner said so. He spoke confidentially.

ESSENTIALLY BRITISH

"J. P." has a couple of other weaknesses, which evidently he realizes: 1. He is so essentially a plutocrat that he is out of touch with average folk—can't estimate their reactions and begins to realize it.

2. He's an Englishman—born here but essentially British.

This British difference lingers through the generations in Latin America, Africa and Asia, because of variations in language and color.

Should it linger in the United States?

Says Good House Keeping Would Prevent Fires

Fire Chief James E. Thomas Calls Attention To Need Of Prevention Measures

Twenty-five or thirty years ago, more attention was given to fire extinguishment than to the prevention of fires, Fire Chief James E. Thomas states, in calling attention to the need for alertness in seeing that fires do not have a chance to get started.

Fire prevention should be primary, and extinguishment, while tremendously important, secondary.

One of the best fire prevention measures is to see that one's house is in good order, he points out. There are few houses that do not have an accumulation of materials which can be of value to some one, but which now constitutes a possible fire menace to the home or place of business.

Thomas urges New Castle residents to clean up their premises now, and protect their family and home from this great danger.

On Court House Hill

Dimetri Zuk, who is charged with the murder of his wife, Zina Zuk, is the first person held in jail on a murder charge in over a year. The county has been remarkably free from capital crimes of late.

Letters of administration in the estate of the late Lydia Shoults have been granted by the register and recorder to Fred J. Shatzer.

Attorney Walter S. Reynolds, counsel for administrators of the estate of the late Mary Taylor, is expecting an appraiser here from Washington D. C., soon in connection with the appraisal of property for the inheritance tax. Owing to the size of the estate there will be both a state and Federal tax. The latter will be the larger.

County Commissioner Floyd Cotton, who interviewed a number of constables last week in an effort to get them to take out bonds for the collection of taxes, was successful and the bonds will be furnished shortly. Among those interviewed was Mrs. Dibley, of South New Castle borough, the only woman constable in Lawrence county, and a good official, according to comments heard in the borough. Constable Walter Bannan of Taylor township, did not want the tax collecting job and so Mr. Cotton secured a Mr. Bashura. In Little Beaver, Constable Kinney will collect, at Bessemer, Kenneth Griffin and in Hickory township and Volant borough, William Graham.

Office of County Treasurer Joseph H. Hartland was crowded on Saturday and today by persons taking out dog licenses. Tomorrow and Wednesday are expected to be big days as licenses are supposed to be all issued by Wednesday. There is no question, however, but that the time will be extended. There are over six thousand dogs to be licensed in Lawrence county.

Former Chief Justice Robert S. Frazer of the supreme court of Pennsylvania, won't have to do any worrying about the Townsend plan, or any other social security measure. Frazer served a full 21 years on the high tribunal. Prior to entering the supreme court he served 15 years in the Allegheny county common pleas court. He paid $169 a month into the judges' retirement fund, and as a result he will draw a pension of approximately $883 a month.

No action has been taken yet by either the county or the city on the appointment of a sealer of weights and measures. Formerly one man did the work for both divisions, but when the former board of county commissioners went into office a separate sealer was appointed by the county, while council named one for the city. The combined salaries of the two were about the same as was formerly paid to one man. It was argued at the time that it was better to give work to two men and divide the money usually paid, than to give it all to one man. There has been some gossip over what is to be done by the present commissioners and city council, but so far there has been no conference on the matter. It is doubtful if the offices will be combined.

Upon request of the court former Judge James A. McLaughry of Mercer county will supervise the probation system of the county with the end in view of making it more efficient. Judge McLaughry will receive no compensation from the county, as the law of the state provides that a judge who has completed twenty years on the bench, shall receive no compensation for acting in an advisory capacity. Juvenile court is held for children who commit their first offenses. They are usually paroled under the supervision of a parole officer to whom they must make regular reports of their conduct.

AIRPORT SITE GIVEN SHARON ENTHUSIASTS DONOR TO GET LEASE

SHARON, Pa., Jan. 13.—Beating the deadline set by state airport planners by only four days, Sharon Farrell and Sharpville today had selected a 150-acre site for a Shenango valley airport and were ready to complete details for immediate work on the project, to be financed almost entirely from the state WPA airport fund. In special session late Saturday, representatives of the three municipalities chose a site at Five Points, five and a half miles from Sharon, which was offered without cost by the owner, J. B. Wilson, in return for a five-year lease on the property. He plans to make it available for use of the Harper Aircraft Company, already engaged in the manufacture of airplanes at an adjacent field.

PAY BOUNTY CLAIM Bounty claims for two goshawks and 17 weasels were paid Lawrence county residents during November, the report of the State Game Commission reveals.

A feminine writer hates house-keeping because it is just doing the same thing over every day. Lady, if you had to shave—

QUICK! STOP THAT COLD IN THE DRY OR FIRST STAGE!

A cold ordinarily goes through three stages: The Dry Stage, the first 24 hours; the Watery Secretion Stage, from 1 to 3 days; and the Mucous Secretion Stage. A cold is twice as easily stopped in the first as in the second or third stages. In fact, to let a cold run beyond the first stage is inviting trouble.

As your doctor will tell you there is nothing better you can take for a cold than Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine. It is expressly a cold tablet and not a "cure-all". It is internal treatment which a cold requires. It does four important things. First, it opens the bowels. Second, it checks the infection in the system. Third, it relieves the headache and fever. Fourth, it tones the system and helps fortify against further attack.

That's the fourfold treatment you want and in Bromo Quinine you get it in the form of a single tablet. Bromo Quinine contains nothing harmful and is safe to take. For more than forty years it has been the largest selling cold tablet in the world, the formula always keeping pace with Modern Medicine. When a cold threatens, do the sensible thing and go right to your druggist for a package of Bromo Quinine. Take two of the tablets at four-hour intervals and you'll usually check the cold in 24 hours. That's the speed you want for comfort and for safety. All drug stores sell Bromo Quinine and the few pennies' cost may save you dollars in doctor's bills.

Thirty-Four Men, Entire Crew Of Freighter Iowa, Perish In Storm

RESCUE EFFORTS ARE UNAVAILING

(International News Service) ASTORIA, Ore., Jan. 13.—Search for bodies of the crew of the shipwrecked freighter Iowa was begun by coast guardsmen today as pounding seas, which have lashed the north Pacific coast for the past two days, calmed.

Latin Tournament Held On Saturday

Samuel Davy Wins First Place In Junior High School Contest For City

The semi-annual Latin tournament for the junior high schools of the city was held Saturday morning in the senior high school on Lincoln avenue. # Sampson Street Man Secures Ancient Auto

Don your touring habit, adjust your goggles, and in case you are craving a ride in the oldest automobile in New Castle and surrounding territory it would be wise for you to go to 300 Sampson street where you will find a masterpiece of automotive engineering. C. R. Waters owns one of the very first made automobiles, and strangely enough it is in good running order.

This is one of the old time two seaters which was similar to the horse-carriage of that time. The motor is mounted in the rear of the car and is a chain drive connected with the rear wheel. I say wheel due to the fact that it is only a three wheeled automobile. Two wheels in the front and only one in the back. The brake works on the rear wheel, and incidentally quite a modern type of brake is used. This is the expanding type which was not introduced in cars this early in their history. It is one of the many points which go to show that the mechanic who planned this car was way ahead of his time with his ideas and mechanical skill and ability.

Another of the interesting points which is a feature of several of the new 1936 model cars is a balance stabilizer. This is placed in the front of the car between the wheels, and serves to make a smooth ride possible. The car, lacking a start-er is of necessity wound up to get started. A crank protrudes from the side of the car just below the driver's seat. And while speaking of this seat it would be interesting to note that it is on the right hand side and it is steered with a bar which extends across the driver's seat. No identification marks of any kind may be found on this machine, and the only number which is visible is "90".

No one has yet been able to enlighten Mr. Waters upon the subject of what make it is or how long ago it was manufactured. It was purchased from a Hill Billy family in the mountains of W. Virginia quite some time ago. Mr. Waters would be very willing to show this machine to anyone that is at all interested.

Turkey Dinner Of Ellwood Firemen Pleasing Event

Firemen And City Officials Celebrate Purchasing Of Modern Fire Truck

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 13.—An impressive event was held in the Ellwood City fire department hall on Sixth street Saturday evening when the Ellwood firemen entertained members of the present and old borough council, city officials, and a number of special guests at a turkey dinner in celebration of the purchasing of a new and modern fire truck.

Turkey with all the trimmings was prepared and served by the wives of the firemen. Judging from the appetites of those present, the food was either extraordinary or else they had just broken a 30-day hunger strike. Nevertheless, the speakers and the assemblage spared no words in praise of the sumptuous dinner.

Music for the occasion was provided by a local hill-billy orchestra. A. W. Richards presided as chairman of the evening and after a few introductory remarks, expressed his appreciation of the turnout and the well prepared dinner, he called upon Russell T. Sittler, president of council and acting burgess of Ellwood City. Mr. Sittler praised the rapid improvement and rise of the Ellwood City fire department since its inception. The department has become completely modernized as far as its equipment and quarters are concerned. The firemen are also impressively uniformed. For the size of the community Ellwood City will be second to none in efficiency and service rendered. A great deal of the credit for the development of the department is due Fire Chief H. T. Plante, Mr. Sittler declared.

Chairman Richards then gave a brief history of the local fire department after which he called upon several guests for a few words. These were Fire Chief Richard Tummins of Beaver Falls, Fire Chief James E. Thomas of New Castle, Fire Chief George Dietrich of Monaca, Fire Chief M. J. Norton of Frisco and W. R. Evans, who represented the company which sold the new fire truck to the borough.

Local people to speak were: Borough Manager L. W. Monroe, Fire Chief H. T. Plante, Councilmen A. J. Howell, A. D. Henderson, William McGlinchey, Harry Caplan, J. P. McNeice, Paxton Eike, Frank Bioroli, Earnest Reinheimer and retiring Councilman Clyde B. Houk.

Judge Braham Tries First Case In Court

Jurors Are Taken To Ellwood City To View Premises In Damage Case

Judge W. Walter Braham took up his first case for trial at Lawrence county common pleas court this morning, the case being that of John Lapotka and wife, Mary Lapotka against the borough of Ellwood City. Lapotka owns four lots in the fourth ward of Ellwood City, which he claims were damaged by the grading of a street, the lots being left below the street. Viewers were appointed and after a hearing an award of $400 was made from which an appeal was taken.

Lapotka claims that his lots are damaged to the extent of $1600. After the jury had been sworn a request was made that the jury be taken to see the ground. Judge Braham granted the request. He charged the jury that they were not going to view the premises for the purpose of arriving at the measure of damages, but only for the reason that a view of the premises would better enable them to pass upon the testimony offered. A bus was secured and the jurors, accompanied by their attorneys, were taken to Ellwood City.

Supreme Court Rules Against "Waxy" Gordon

Power In Beer Running Industry Faces 10-Year Term, And $20,000 Fine

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—Irving Wexler, alias "Waxy" Gordon, a power in the beer running industry in New York during prohibition, today lost an appeal to the supreme court for review of his conviction for violation of the federal income tax law.

He now faces 10 years in federal prison and $20,000 in fines.

The government charged that "Waxy" conspired with others to defraud the government in 1930 and 1931. The government claimed that his gross income in 1930 reached the amazing figure of $1,497,604 and that he defrauded the government of $235,306 tax.

Failed To Pay Tax. In 1931, it was claimed, he failed to pay the government $244,846 in income tax, which was due on an income of $1,020,910.

The alleged gangster was indicted in November, 1933, and was tried before Federal Judge Frank J. Coleman in New York.

Counsel for Wexler charged that he did not get a fair trial because the judge admitted testimony and permitted government lawyers to make statements that were incompetent and prejudicial.

Government lawyers, he contended, insinuated that he was responsible for murder, and declared that the case was a test of whether "gangsters, racketeers, thieves and robbers" would triumph.

NEW CASTLE DEFEATS ELLWOOD CITY 25-19

Mumford-Toscano Stars Of Battle

New Castle Wins Third Straight Section Three Victory Saturday

Game Is Hard Fought, Houserman And Luxemburg Star For Ellwood

New Castle high school "Red Hurricane" basketball team made it three in a row in Section Three Saturday night at George Washington high gym by defeating a fast, clever Ellwood City high team, 25 to 19, before a crowd of over 1,000 fans. The victory places New Castle at the top of the section as the only undefeated team.

The locals had to come from behind in the first period to win the game, getting off to a slow start. The Ellwood City boys, led by "Blondie" Houserman and Planagan, began to click as soon as the battle started and at the first period the Schillman had a lead of 7 to 4.

Dal Mumford, Grommes and Toscano went to work and in the second period outscored Ellwood 8 to 4, to take the lead for the first half ended 12 to 11. The "Wolverines" were held to a lone field goal in the second period by the fine guarding of Covelli and Toscano.

New Castle continue the pace in the third period again, scoring eight points to three for the Ellwood City boys, and making the count 20 to 14 as the period drew to a close. In the fourth and final period each team scored five points, making the final count 25 to 19.

Mumford Stars
Out of the heat of the battle waged, Dal Mumford was the high point man, making many one-handed flips into the basket, with Harry "Kasner" Toscano also playing a great game at guard, both on the defense and offense, and incidentally the New Castle captain made seven of the points. Emil Grommes at center, played a fine game and kicked in with four points, while Johnnie Carik made three of the points, and Johnnie Cabas, a sub for Covelli, made good on three foul tries.

Houserman Best
"Blondie" Houserman was easily the outstanding star for the Ellwood City team, with eight of the points, while Luxemburg made six points from his guard position. Planagan made three fouls for the Schillman. Mike Kraynack, highly touted Ellwood City star, was a "marked man" and although he managed to slip in one field goal, was watched closely.

Coach Phil Bridenbaugh was well pleased with the work of the locals in the game Saturday night. New Castle's next game will be Tuesday night at Aliquippa.

Titans Defeat Slippery Rock

Bennett, Westminster Sensational Good Shooter Annexes 22 Points

FINAL SCORE SHOWS 47-22 TITAN VICTORY

(Special To The News)
SLIPPERY ROCK, Jan. 13.—Bennett's 22 points were as many as Slippery Rock could match Saturday night, and the towering Titans added another 25 points to defeat the Rockets on their own floor, 47-22.

Accurate basket-shooting saved the game for Westminster. Bennett with 10 field goals and Willis with 6 were flawless in their tosses. Bennett continued to adapt his style of play to circumstances by flipping the ball under the opposition's arms when too close guarded for overhead shots. Willis by fast footwork eluded the Rocket guards for poised head-shots many times.

The reserves who had but little success in the first half against the hard-fighting Rockets, did better in the final frame, with Gilliland and Hunneke and Krivosch, in the lineup as forwards, played their usual fine type of game, passing accurately, guarding closely, and constantly harassing the Rocket ball-handlers.

Backus, who seldom scores more than a point or so, got better than his share of tip-offs and performed his usual shadow-like function of feeding the ball to the right place at the right time.

The game started slowly, the Rockets scoring first on a free-throw which was immediately tied by Backus on a charity point. With Bennett's easy toss from the side and Barnes basket, the score was again tied 3-3. But on Backus' back-hand flip for a bucket, the Titans took a 5-3 lead which continued until the score was 13-3 before the Slippery Rock team scored again.

Bennett and Willis alternated at scoring and the half ended 22-12 with Arrowsmith, former football star, leading the reserves, finishing the first period. For a time the Rockets kept pace with the Titan scoring in the final frame, until the score reached 29-19. Then the Westminster cagers "went to town" and rolled the score up to 42-21 before again leaving the floor for the reserves.

Kelly, Rocket forward, carried the bulk of the Slippery Rock attack, scoring four times from the floor and making 1 free throw for 9 points.

The victory brought the Titans average for the season up to 8 wins and 3 losses. Bennett's 22 points shove him further in the lead as high-scorer in the district and also brings his average scoring per game to above the 15 average of past seasons.

Bennett And Willits Lead Titan Scorers; Bennett Keeps Up Pace

WES BENNETT JACK WILLITS

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, Jan. 13.—The Westminster Titan cagers, with Bennett's seasonal score at 144 points, have rolled up 376 markers against 244 by opponents in the 10 games of the 1935 season, prior to the Saturday night game with Slippery Rock.

The average scoring per game for the United Presbyterians is 37, with 24 for the opposition. Bennett's average score per game has been 14.4 with one low count of 4 points against St. Johns. Bennett's high scores of the year have been 22 against West Chester; 21 against Youngstown college, and 19 against Geneva.

Fifty-five field goals have been dropped through the hoop by Bennett, and 34 fouls. Running next to the Titan forward is John Willits, Ford City, with 63 points, an average of almost 7 for each game. Bennett has dropped as many free throws through the loop as all of his team-mates combined.

The highest Titan score for the year was registered against the Glenville Teachers from West Virginia, 53 points, and the lowest against John Marshall, 23.

With Bennett's score of 359 in the 1935-36 season, and 301 in the 1934-35 period, he should easily reach 1,000 points for the three years. During the past three years Bennett has scored 804 points. If he continues to average 15 points per game for the 16 remaining games of the Titan schedule, Bennett will have 1044 points to his credit.

According to statistics kept in the Glenville game, Krivosch took six shots at the basket and made four, while "Wes" Bennett, Titan scoring ace, was making four out of ten.

During the game the Titans took 71 shots at the bucket, connecting with 21.

The second-string forwards showed their nervousness and jittery state by connecting with only six out of 23 tries.

Krivosch seldom shoots inside enemy territory; most of his shots are made outside the line of defense. With a high arch and well-timed shots, he is the most dangerous of the Titans on long-distance tries.

Salary Increases Given To Several Members Of Giants

(International News Service)

If a player deserves to have his salary cut, it's better to get rid of him. There isn't a cut in any of the contracts I've mailed but there are several increases for those who rate them."

Louis-Braddock Bout Discussed

Would Stage Louis And Braddock Bout In Philadelphia Ring

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 13.—Possibility of staging a Braddock-Louis heavyweight championship fight in this city as a climax to a rousing Democratic convention in June was the subject of excited speculation here today.

That either a title bout or at least a match between Joe Louis and Max Schmeling, German boxer, is being sought as an added convention "attraction" was revealed by John B. Kelly, newly-appointed states secretary of revenue and former Democratic city chairman.

"I have talked to Mike Jacobs, New York promoter who has Louis under contract," Kelly said, "and he seems interested."

Local promoters saw two possible hitches to the proposal—Louis' contract to battle Schmeling in New York in June and Jim Braddock's obligation to defend his title under Madison Square Garden promotion.

Suggested for Jan. 29, the Monday following the convention's close, the fight would be held in the municipal stadium, scene of the Dempsey-Tunney fight in 1926.

Boxing Commission To Defend Charges

By DAVID J. WALSH

International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—Following the customary "pooh-pooh" period in which everybody said it was all a lot of good natured badinage, the lofty and exalted sport of boxing has become seriously alarmed today by the possibility of a legislative investigation.

A boxing man is always distressed by the vulgarity of the "finger" and the sound of the whistle, but this time his uneasiness is more aggravated. He suddenly remembered that it is a Republican legislature now sitting at Albany and the Democrats not only made the law, but have paid off many of their most distinguished fatheads with soft-seat boxing jobs.

There are stories even that a Republican assemblyman of considerable prestige has decided to bring the issue before his body and will ask for a probe of both the boxing commission and the clubs that operate under its jurisdiction. The last time that happened, boxing wound up on the sidewalks of New York.

Moreover, copies of a radio talk, in which staff men of the boxing commission were accused of being "runners" for the sure-thing gamblers, have been sent to every member of the legislature and to Governor Lehman and Secretary of State Flynn; so altogether members of the boxing set hereabouts are much upset.

One of them, Joe Jacobs, even wants the Schmeling-Louis heavyweight fight transferred to Soldier's Field, Chicago, which might happen, at that, although not necessarily because of too much "heat" and pressure locally. They tell me that Chicago might decide to waive its usual cut-in of a resident promoter in order to get its first big fight since the Dempsey-Tunney meeting eight years ago.

To Attend Meeting
Meantime, the author of the radio attack, Nat Fleischer, has not yet received his "invitation" to attend tomorrow's meeting of the commission. The request, which probably will come in today's mail will be accepted, Fleischer said.

He added that he was prepared to repeat what he said over the air, to-wit: That he had informed Chairman Phelon of what was going on; that Phelon had promised action and had taken none. Fleischer said that, if pressed, he also would name those who came to him and asked him to "lay off" after editorials in his boxing publication had called attention to what he felt was dubious behavior on the part of at least one deputy commissioner.

Accusations Hurlled

There are stories even that a Republican assemblyman of considerable prestige has decided to bring the issue before his body and will ask for a probe of both the boxing commission and the clubs that operate under its jurisdiction. The last time that happened, boxing wound up on the sidewalks of New York.

Moreover, copies of a radio talk, in which staff men of the boxing commission were accused of being "runners" for the sure-thing gamblers, have been sent to every member of the legislature and to Governor Lehman and Secretary of State Flynn; so altogether members of the boxing set hereabouts are much upset.

One of them, Joe Jacobs, even wants the Schmeling-Louis heavyweight fight transferred to Soldier's Field, Chicago, which might happen, at that, although not necessarily because of too much "heat" and pressure locally. They tell me that Chicago might decide to waive its usual cut-in of a resident promoter in order to get its first big fight since the Dempsey-Tunney meeting eight years ago.

To Attend Meeting

received his "invitation" to attend tomorrow's meeting of the commission. The request, which probably will come in today's mail will be accepted, Fleischer said.

He added that he was prepared to repeat what he said over the air, to-wit: That he had informed Chairman Phelon of what was going on; that Phelon had promised action and had taken none. Fleischer said that, if pressed, he also would name those who came to him and asked him to "lay off" after editorials in his boxing publication had called attention to what he felt was dubious behavior on the part of at least one deputy commissioner.

Predicts Louis Will Be Kayoed

Former Governor Of North Dakota Sees Retzlaff Winner Of Bout

CHICAGO PROMOTER LOOKS FOR CROWD

By JOHN C. HOFFMAN
International News Service Sports Writer

CHICAGO, Jan. 13.—Two events of extraordinary significance occurred today to intensify the orderly process of preparations for the engagement next Friday night between Joe Louis, the unofficial heavyweight champion of the world, and Charley Retzlaff, the man who is going to be knocked out.

In the order of their importance, they were: (1) The announcement by a Chicago newspaper that Louis is going to "open up" and reveal in a series of articles the human side of his nature, and (2) the prediction by the former governor of North Dakota that the man who is going to be knocked out will, instead, knock out Louis.

Not Publicity Stunt

Curiously enough, neither of these startling developments is a publicity stunt and Mister James Mullen, who works on the night side of the Chicago stadium promotional enterprises, is herewith cleared of any sordid conniving on the customers. Not that Mister Mullen could be above such a procedure, but the fact is that some weeks ago he had only to get the permission of Mike Jacobs to use Louis for one evening to insure a sellout.

As a departure from the usual "life stories" which follow recognition of each new public hero, the articles about Louis' human side should make good reading if only because they smack of originality. The news that Joe is going to "open up," however, is no news to Primo Camarra, King Levinsky, Max Baer, Paulino Uzcudun, et al, who could be of the opinion that Louis has already done a fair country job of "opening up," or closing in as the case may be.

All jocosely aside, however, a comprehensive discourse, for example on what Joe thinks of while shaving in the morning or on what goes on in his mind while nothing is going on in the mind of an opponent just smacked into oblivion should be instantly interesting.

Predicts Knockout

As for former Gov. William Langer's prediction that Retzlaff will knock out Louis, the statement is not so idiotic as it would seem to be on first inspection. You say: "Who is the governor of North Dakota to be predicting the outcome of fights?" But then we have Jimmy Johnson, who is supposed to know something about pugilism, saying that James J. Braddock will beat Louis. Also, from time to time, we have had some very good sports writers whose prognostications were pretty far from fulfillment.

Former Gov. Langer says: "The trouble with you sports writers is that you are too blasé. You never give credit for improvement. Retzlaff is an improved fighter and I firmly believe he will knock out Louis in the second round."

Retzlaff will have to tangle much better than he was when King Levinsky put him to sleep in the first round some time ago. Much better.

Busy Schedule For Keystone

The Keystone A. C. basketball team, better known as the Sacred Hearts, will play their busiest and toughest schedule of the season this week, according to Rocco P. Viggiano, business manager of the Keystone. Some of the fastest teams in this district will be met.

Tuesday the Keystone goes to Grove City to meet the strong Grove City Merchants team at the State Armory floor. Wednesday the Sacred Hearts will play the Epworth M. E. team at the "Y" floor, in a Church A League battle.

Thursday the Keys will travel to Beaver Falls for a game with the Geneva Reserves in a preliminary game to the Geneva college game at the Beaver Falls high gym. Friday the Sacred Hearts will play the St. Michaels in a church A League battle at the "Y." Saturday the Keystone will go to Youngstown for a game with the Elites. Coach Andy "Cooks" Venditto will have the Keys in the best possible shape for the gruelling program, according to Rocco P. Viggiano.

The two usual methods of living at the expense of others are (1) to receive a dole, and (2) to say: "Charge it."

ICE FISHING DRAWS UNEMPLOYED TO LAKE ERIE

"Boom" times pay and food for empty tables draws thousands of jobless along the western Lake Erie shore to the sport, or work, of ice fishing. When the fish are biting, according to veteran anglers, the catch generally brings in from $5 to $35 a day.

Technique of Hockey in Six Easy Lessons

The class in hockey will now come to attention for an example in six easy lessons. To explain: No. 1—Joe Cooper, a newcomer playing with the Rangers; Lewis (white sweater) of the Detroit Red Wings; and Ching Johnson of the Rangers, begin a dispute for the puck during a game in New York. No. 2 shows Cooper stumbling, accidentally perhaps, giving Lewis the shoulder while Johnson swings to circle them. No. 3 shows Cooper in command of the situation, with Lewis falling to the ice. Nos. 4 and 5 show Lewis' descent and Cooper's departure. In No. 6 Lewis begins to climb back to his feet as Cooper skates away. While Lewis was falling, Ching Johnson took away the puck.

Injury Forces Leo Diegel To Quit Tourneys

"Grand Old Man" Of Professional Golf Injures His Shoulder

By WALLACE X. RAWLES
International News Service Sports Writer

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Jan. 13.—Hard luck today virtually had eliminated Leo Diegel from the ranks of America's leading professional golfers.

An Indian wrestling hold in Australia 15 months ago was the "jinx" that put the $25,000 a year golfer on the sidelines.

Harry Cooper, a pal, Chicago golfer, and member of the team of American "pros" that invaded Australia, and Gus Sonnenberg, heavyweight American wrestler, were the ones who in a playful mood unintentionally applied the "touches" that wrecked a nerve center in Diegel's right shoulder, and robbed him of the finesse in golf that had led him to four Canadian open titles.

"I was the sixth member of a team chosen to play in Australia," Diegel recounted today. "The other five were Craig Wood, Paul Runyan, Ky Lafoon, Denny Shute and Harry Cooper."

"I set an Australian record on the course at Adelaide two days before we were scheduled to return to America."

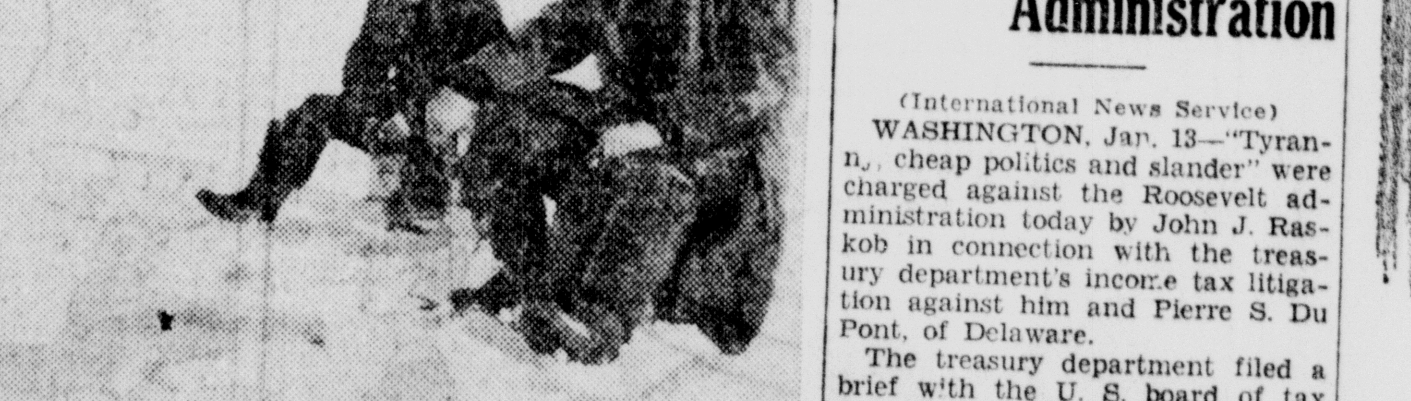

Then I challenged Cooper to a wrestling match. He got an Indian wrestling hold on my shoulder. It hurt, my fault, not his.

"Then Sonnenberg barely touched me. A nerve center went wrong. Today I have lost 20 per cent of my iron play, and rather than feel like a fool in playing golf, I have decided to retire virtually from professional competition."

"But I won't die in the poor-house."

Has Neat Fortune
Diegel has been playing professional golf since 1920—for 15 years. His friends said today that never had he made less than $25,000 a year—a total of some $375,000.

"The 'hard luck guy' of golf!"

Change Of Venue Will Be Sought

Philadelphia Paper Seeks Change Of Venue For Libel Suit Trial

(International News Service)
PUNXSUTAWNEY, Pa., Jan. 13.—Judge William McLean, of Luzerne county, will conduct a hearing here Thursday on a petition of the Philadelphia Inquirer for a change of venue in the criminal libel suit brought by Attorney General Charles J. Margiotti, it was learned today.

Judge McLean, designated by the supreme court to conduct the hearings, notified Judge J. C. Long of Jefferson county where the Inquirer company requested a change of venue on the contention that it would not obtain a fair trial in Jefferson county where the attorney general is well known as a native son.

Raskob Harangues Administration

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—"Tyranny, cheap politics and slander" were charged against the Roosevelt administration today by John J. Raskob in connection with the treasury department's income tax litigation against him and Pierre S. Du Pont, of Delaware.

The treasury department filed a brief with the U. S. board of tax appeals charging the two "conspirators" to show "losses" aggregating $1,946,048 in 1929. Raskob, former chairman of the Democratic National committee, claimed the securities he sold Du Pont and the securities he bought from Du Pont were allowed by law in order to show their definite losses in their income report.

Cardinals Will Be Team To Beat

Bill Terry Says Cardinals Not Cubs Will Be Fighting For Pennant

WHITEHEAD RATED FINE SECOND BASEMAN

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—Take it from Bill Terry, manager of the New York Giants, the Cardinals, and not the champion Cubs, are the team the Giants must beat to win the National League pennant this year.

Bill rates them thus: Giants, Cardinals, Cubs, Pirates, with the Reds, Phils, Braves and Dodgers scrambling for what's left.

And how, sez you, does he figure a team that was lucky to finish third last year, can win this season?

Parmelee Gone
"Like this," says Bill. "Better pitching, more strength added to the best outfield in baseball, and the addition of Burgess Whitehead, second best second baseman in the league, to the infield, the best, of course, being Herman."

But he lost some pitching when he gave Bud Parmelee to the Cards. "Sure, I did, but I had to give up a good man to get what I needed to make my team, and if Parmelee falls that will go down as the worst trade the Cards ever made."

Whitehead Good

"Nobody can outfield Whitehead, and if he hits only .265 for me that'll be enough. He'll make my job at first base easier and you'll notice a big improvement in Bartlett's play at short."

"We'll have a faster club than we had last year and speed's what I'm going to stress. You can't top Moore, Lieber and Ott for an outfield, and the addition of Ridder— a 345 hitter and speedster, isn't going to hurt."

Depend on Lieber
"I think we'll really go to town with Lieber this year. I'm convinced he'll develop into the best outfielder in the country."

"The pitching? Well, I've got Hubbell, Schumacher, Castleman and Gumbert for my big four and Al Smith as a fifth starter. Then I've added Coffman and Marberry for relief—two guys who know what it's all about. I think you'll see Gumbert and Castleman coming through for me this year just like Schumacher and Parmelee did a couple of years ago. And you can bet this bunch won't fold up."

Terry said: "You have to like those Cards. They've got some real ball players and they've got a lot of talent to replace anybody who slays. They'll be tough, much tougher than the Cubs or the Pirates, who have plenty of class, but not enough pitching."

Governor Earle Awaits Report

Governor Awaits Report On Survey Of Relief Needs In Pennsylvania

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Jan. 13.—Gov. George H. Earle is awaiting the completion of the report now being prepared by the special legislative committee investigating Pennsylvania's relief situation so that he can determine whether or not a special legislative session is necessary, he had revealed today.

Addressing the Isaac Walton dinner here Saturday, the governor said the state will have $24,500,000 left for relief after February 1, and that the survey will determine his decision on whether additional legislation will be required.
